

MOTHER'S LITTLE HELPER/ LADY JANE

Original Release Date: 1 July 1966

Original Cat. No.: LONDON LO 902

Original Label: Blue London swirl

Comments: Again, this single was predominantly a US compilation adopted by many countries, but not issued in Britain. As opposed to in the UK, Mother's Little Helper was, at the time of this release, not available here on an LP, which was surely the main reason why it was issued as a single.

MOTHER'S LITTLE HELPER LADY JANE the rolling stones

have you seen your mother, baby, standing in the shadow?

THE ROLLING STONES

45-903

LONDON

HAVE YOU SEEN YOUR MOTHER, BABY, STANDING IN THE SHADOW / WHO'S DRIVING YOUR PLANE

Original Release Date: 23 September 1966

Original Cat. No.:
LONDON LO 903

Original Label: Blue
London swirl

Comments: From now on, the original British Stones singles were issued here in the same way as in the UK. For once, both sides of the US picture sleeve were different. The famous photo of the Stones dressed up as elderly women/ transvestites was printed on the reverse.

HAVE YOU SEEN YOUR MOTHER, BABY, STANDING IN THE SHADOW?

LET'S SPEND THE NIGHT TOGETHER/ RUBY TUESDAY

Original Release Date: 13 January 1967

Original Cat. No.: LONDON LO 904

Original Label: Blue London swirl

Comments: The famous Gered Mankowitz group photo, that adorns the picture sleeve here (and also the "BETWEEN THE BUTTONS" LP cover) was also used as a single cover in many other countries. In the UK, both songs were issued on a single only, but in the USA they were soon (July 1967) to be included on the compilation LP "FLOWERS".

LONDON 45-904

LET'S SPEND
THE NIGHT TOGETHER
RUBY TUESDAY
THE ROLLING
STONES